The Most Popular Forcing Plants

All Especially Prepared For The Purpose

Every year there are more especially adapted forcing plants being planted by the florists. In order to follow the trend, we are continuously preparing larger quantities of popular varieties. Our long experience in this particular branch of our business has enabled us to select the proper plants for forcing and also prepare them for you so that you will not suffer any losses. Before shipping, this material is properly frost cured and handled at times best adapted for the purpose. Most all hardy plants for forcing should be started off in cool temperature for about two weeks and later increased to regular Carnation temperature.

Buddleia Charming

A DISTINCT NEW INTRODUCTION

Develops into a beautiful bushy plant, growing to a height of 5 to 6 feet and almost the same in spread. Makes a very striking plant in any landscape, flowering from the middle of June until frost. The individual flower heads are quite large and when fully developed they make a solid round head opening full length.

The flowers are a clear lavender pink, an entirely new color never before seen in Buddleias. On bright sunny days they appear clear pink, while in floral work under electric lights they are a pleasing soft pink. In basket work or the larger types of floral designs this Buddleia can be used as the main flower; because of its desirable color it blends beautifully with light blue Delphiniums or practically all seasonable flowers. This is a really a pink Buddleia, entirely different than any other varieties in cultivation today. We very highly recommend that you make a planting of this remarkable new Buddleia Charming.

DAISY DOUBLE WHITE SWAN. Pure white, double flowers on strong wiry stems 24 to 30 inches in length, in bloom for Memorial Day. We grow this Daisy in large quantities and in the last few years we have shipped out many thousands of plants. At first we recommended it only for outdoor planting for cut flower purposes. Many of our customers liked it so well that they lifted clumps and forced them in their greenhouses throughout the winter. We were informed that this Daisy is also an excellent forcer, producing wonderful flowers under glass. These flowers always command a good price, whether in bloom outdoors for Memorial Day or under glass in the month of March. You will find a planting of these Daisies very profitable.

In our Cleveland market this Daisy is very much in demand for Decoration Day sales and it always commands a good price.

Our large plantings of Gypsophila Bristol Fairy when in full flower remind you of ocean mist. The above is a field view of one of our plantings. For this fall we have one of the largest plantings ever of the most excellent quality roots.

Three Very Popular Gypsophilas

GYPSOPHILA REPENS BODGERI

Grows to a height of 12 inches with a spread of 18 to 24 inches. Produces the first season double white flowers which in three or four days turn to flesh pink. It is an ever-bloomer, from early spring until late fall. Within two years from the time of its introduction, we have sold practically as many Bodgeri as the well known Bristol Fairy. The reason for this heavy run of sales we believe is due to the fact that Bodgeri is an everbloomer, filling in the gap between crops of Bristol Fairy. We have for shipment this fall extra fine quality plants of a type that will give you good crops of flowers.

PERENNIAL SEEDS

For Late Autumn And Winter Sowing

Many perennial seeds give best results from late fall sowing and freezing is required to induce germination. In other cases, though freezing is not essential, the seeds are dormant for some months after sowing, and getting them sown in the fall usually means an early spring start, and more growth the following season.

Methods of Sowing

Most of these seeds may be handled in either one of two ways, depending on the grower's preference, and whether or not a greenhouse is available. For the grower who has no greenhouse, or does not wish to use greenhouse space, the seed may be sown in well prepared soil in the cold frame any time before the ground freezes. Protect to prevent washing of the seed, and mulch lightly to keep the sun out. The seeds will germinate in early spring and the plants may be moved as soon as large enough.

However, some time may be saved if you sow the seeds in the fall in flats, setting the flats in the frames. Then in January or early February, bring the flats into a cool greenhouse to start early growth. By this method, you can get good sized plants to set out into the field in May.

Trollius Seed

If you have a greenhouse, follow this treatment — sow the seed in flats outdoors in November or early December. Leave outdoors until February when you can bring into the greenhouse under temperature of 45 to 55 degrees. The soil will gradually thaw out and the seedlings should be up in three weeks. There should be plenty of moisture in the soil to germinate the seed. Move into pots and keep the plants growing. You can usually pot them up in March and set outdoors in April. After the seeds germinate, it is important to keep them growing.

If you have no greenhouse, sow the seed in frames. They will germinate in early spring and the plants should be left right in the frames for transplanting the following September.

Giant Pacific Hybrids (V. & R.)

After inspecting this strain in bloom in our own nursery we are ready to call it the finest strain of Hybrids to be had today for the commercial grower. The shades are beautiful, the florets large, closely placed on the spikes and are nearly 100% double. We have the originator's strain, and because seed supply is limited we urge early reservation of your requirements.

You will find it clearly superior to standard Belladonna.

Prices for 1938 crop seed. ¼ oz. 30c, ½ oz. 50c, oz. $1.60. We will be pleased to quote special prices on larger quantities.
